

BRIDGING DIFFERENCES FOR BETTER MENTORING

Building Inclusion One
Relationship At a Time

Keynote

Most organizations today understand the benefits of having more diverse and inclusive work environments. Yet, there is little movement, and often, very little individual accountability. In this interactive, entertaining and practical keynote, learn how mentoring can help drive inclusion, why talking about difference in your mentoring relationships is essential, and how to create transformative mentoring relationships that have an impact for mentors, mentees, their teams and their organizations. Audiences will walk away with new insights and tips they can apply to improve their mentoring relationships right away.

This is a 45-minute keynote with a 15-minute question and answer session delivered by The Center for Mentoring Excellence's CEO, Lisa Fain.

Lisa brings her energy, enthusiasm and engagement to any group, delivering lively speeches with practical steps that can be implemented right away. She is a master Facilitator, experienced Executive Coach, and seasoned consulting partner to her organizational clients. Lisa guides leaders to create better workplaces and is known for her frank, kind and holistic approach to helping leaders help themselves.
